"CHARLEY'S AUNT" IS HERE

HE'S A LEADING MAN

Robert McKim, who is winning laurels at the Orpheum with the Howard players.

CHARLEY'S AUNT WAS A SCREAM

Funny Enough to Cause Democrats to Forget Their Troubles.

The most pessimistic or discouraged Democratic candidate or politician might have had occasion to crack a smile had he witnessed the mirth provoking capers of that dear old lady, Charley's Aunt, as depicted by George B. Howard, at the New Orpheum last evening.

When Howard stepped before the footlights in the first act garbed in right mind and masculine attire, the audience could hardly repress a few dignified snickers.

A few minutes later, as the plot of the screaming farce of Charley's Aunt began to unfold, and Howard loomed before the pink-tinted background in the role of the bogus auntie, smiles and suppressed giggles gave place to almost every recognizable form of unrestrained and honest merriment.

Charley's Aunt is far better than a prescription from your favored family physician. Such being the case, there are a good many people in Honolulu today who must confess to having been greatly benefited by their attendance at the local playhouse last evening.

Charley's Aunt drew a big house, it was a thoroughly good production and it served the purpose well for which it was written in fact it is a decided winner of the little blue devil who are prone to linger with the best of well regulated families.

To go into the plot of the farce would simply be repeating ancient history. It has been presented in practically every important language throughout the world.

In addition to George B. Howard, whose ample girth was a revelation to the several members of the company acquainted themselves in a highly creditable manner.

The two Spettigue pieces, depicted by Miss Eva Mariella and Miss Betty Johnson appeared in stunning costumes.

Charley's Aunt will serve as a vehicle to make another large crowd laugh at the Orpheum tonight. A performance on Saturday afternoon and evening will conclude the presentation of the piece. The cast follows:

Jack Chesney.....Mr. Chas. E. Murphy
Brassett.....Mr. Arthur Elton
Charley Wyckomb.....

AT THE PARK.

Alberto, the smiling and clever illusionist, has again illustrated at the Park Theater that the making of illusions is simply being quicker than the human eye, much to the chagrin of the wise ones who have been claiming that they would find out how the tricks are worked. For the first time since he has been here Alberto used assistants from the audience last night. One of these two assistants was a prohibitionist and the other would drink anything given him. Their addition to the program, at whose expense, Alberto cast many quips, amused the audience and permitted him to make some rapid transformations. Harney, the rag-time dancer, not a hearty encore after his piano exhibition. More of his time at the piano would have been appreciated. Brown and Wilmott as usual came in for several recalls as a result of their dancing act.

THE NOVELTY.

Aldor a much-needed rest, well earned, Miss and Milton return to their work at the Novelty to present new songs and new acts. These have been written during the two weeks' vacation just closed. This team has been at work in the United States and Australia for eighteen months and have scored as great there as they have in Honolulu. In their new stunts they will infuse life into the bluest of Honolulu's discontent. Tonight they will sing for the first time in Honolulu, "Oh, You Coon," "Candid Love," and the Hen Wise absurdity, a campaign deluge, "When I Get to Be the Ruling Power." This is dedicated to Messrs. Fern and Lane. Miss Milton will sing "Honey Gal," and "Rainbow Sue." She will be assisted by Miss Alapai, the Hawaiian

DR. NORGAARD BREAKS LEG

Falls Down Steps at Gay Ranch House on Island of Lanai.

When the Mauna Kea arrived this morning, a hurry-up call was sent for an ambulance to convey Dr. Norgaard, the well-known veterinary surgeon, to his rooms at the Hawaiian Hotel. It appears that the doctor went up last Tuesday to Lanai, where he was the guest of the Gay family at their ranch house. On Wednesday night Norgaard walked from his room and searched for some water. He went down some steps, but calculated on only having to go down two. There were seven steps, however, and Norgaard fell heavily to the ground and broke his right leg just above the ankle.

Then began a hurried rush to get the injured man to Lahaina, on Maui. A wagon was procured and the long journey of twelve miles over rocks and ruts began. Norgaard suffered awful agony, as the broken bones jarred against one another, and he fainted several times. When the landing was reached, a Japanese steam sampan was engaged and the trip to Lahaina started.

The Maui port was made in time for the patient to be transferred to the Mauna Kea and brought on to Honolulu. Dr. Norgaard would not go to the hospital, so he was taken to his own rooms, where a doctor was quickly in attendance on him. It is thought that the knitting of the broken bone will take some considerable time, but no complications are feared.

Norgaard went to Lanai to inspect a band of sheep that were reported to be infected with some disease. He had not started on his work when the accident happened.

BOSS BACK FROM HIS ISLAND TOUR

McCandless Sleeps After Hard Campaigning Trip.

L. L. McCandless arrived this morning from his campaign tour of Hawaii and Maui, returning on the Mauna Kea. Fatigued by a hard trip the candidate for delegate on the Democratic ticket went to his home and started a sound sleep. His immediate plans are for another swing around Oahu. It is said, and then attention to Honolulu.

 premier soprano. The Mascotte sisters who have created a stir in the hearts of the "Johnnies," will continue in their double back somersaults and handstands for the balance of the week. There will be a number of new pictures.

THE EMPIRE.

With the ventriloquist, continued his success of a previous week last night in the Empire Theater when he repeated this act for which so many requests have been received. The large audience was highly pleased by the speeches and songs of his dummy partners. The act will be continued during the rest of the week and also at the Saturday matinee. Clara Keating has another song and gives a quick time dance. Claude Keating has a part in the program which is creditably fills.

A "SLASH" SALE

is imperative. The store is full of goods and we just have to make room for Fall and Holiday Goods. To do so we "slash" all standard prices in a manner that must seem startling to our big-profit competitors.

"Slash" Prices in effect today and until after October 31.

There is no line so standard in our stock that it has not been marked with the "slash" sale price.

There are SHOES, MEN'S HATS and LADIES' TRIMMED HATS, DRESS GOODS and SHIRT-WAISTS here in abundance, at prices that are MONEY-SAVERS—for you. The bargains are too numerous, and the profits too small to pay for big advertisements, but our windows and counters tell the story. See them.
